What Is Community Action?

Community Action Agencies are locally controlled non-profit organizations that work to improve the lives of low-income individuals by creating opportunities for increased self-sufficiency and greater participation in the community. In Oklahoma, Community Action Agencies serve all 77 counties.

One of the strengths of Community Action is its local control and local decision-making. Each board has at least one-third of its membership representing low-income residents, one-third local elected officials or their designees, and the remainder representing local business, civic organizations, faith-based group, and similar interests in the community. Community Action Agencies that have Head Start grants must also have board members who have expertise in fiscal management, early childhood education, and an attorney (or consultants), plus parents of children enrolled in Head Start and additional members selected for expertise in education, business administration, or community affairs. This unique board structure allows each local Community Action Agency to determine the most effective programs based on the needs of communities in its service area.

Each Community Action Agency operates a wide variety of programs that are based upon the needs of each local community which are identified through a needs assessment. Different communities have different needs. The local Community Action Agency responds to the specific needs of each community.

Community Action Agencies provide a broad range of programs. They weatherize homes to reduce a family's energy costs while helping them stay warm in the winter. They provide early childhood programs to help prepare youngsters to succeed in school. They build affordable houses so families can have a home of their own. They help families complete and file their federal and state tax returns free. They provide opportunities for senior citizens to stay active in their communities through volunteer programs. They provide transit programs to get families to medical appointments and workers to jobs. They help the elderly maintain their health through nutrition programs. They help our most vulnerable households avoid loss of essential services through utility payment assistance. They help finance job training programs.

Community Action Agencies receive funding from federal and state appropriations as well as private funding sources. The Federal Community Services Block Grant provides core support. It provides administrative and program support to enable Community Action Agencies to partner with other community organizations to provide needed services.

Community Action Agencies were established under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 to fight America's War on Poverty.

Success Stories: Re-Run Junction Thrift Stores Provide Jobs and Growth Opportunities

For Paul Lawson, a job at the Duncan Re-Run Junction Thrift Store led to independence and statewide recognition.

The thrift store employs people with developmental disabilities and provides them with opportunities to learn to attain full-time employment and be independent.

When he came to work in 2008, Paul was living with a friend. The job enabled him to move into his own apartment.

He is an active part of his community assisting neighbors who need help. He attends church and competed in the 2009 Oklahoma Special Olympics.

Paul was awarded the 2009 Governor's Award of Excellence.

Paul now holds down two other part-time janitorial jobs and has twice been recognized as employee of the month.

Toni Gottschalk has been with Big Five in Duncan for almost 2 years. It was an adjustment for her after moving to a new area knowing few people. She has grown tremendously in that time. She has been part of the agencies Human Rights Committee for over a year now and was just elected secretary.

Toni works full time at the Re-Run junction thrift store. When she started she did not know the difference between men and women's shirts, she did not know how to iron clothes or run a register.

Now with the minimal encouragement from a job coach she can do it all. Now she likes to help other coworkers with those skills. She assists customers with sizes, prices and checking out. She can count money back to a customer and answers the business phone to direct calls like a true professional.

She is a wonderful addition to our store and sets a wonderful example for a good work ethic. She notices when she makes a mistake and learns from them. It has been amazing watching her grow into the person she is today.

The Ladies on Carter Street

The six ladies living in a pair of duplexes on Carter Street desire the same things as every other woman their age: the occasional trip to the beauty salon, shopping trips, going out to eat, and to see the occasional movie.

However these ladies go beyond the normal mold for women their age. The residents at these two Daily Living Support units, that are part of the Big Five Developmental Disabilities program, are full of spirit and determination explained Daela Echols, Big Five program coordinator.

A few of the events planned by the ladies this year were the annual Easter Egg Hunt and festivities at the city park, hosting a BBQ for friends, and attending the 4th of July festivities and fireworks show.

In September all 6 ladies rented a cabin at Lake

Murray State Park and had a camping adventure.

They attended numerous parties including a full dress Halloween costume party.

They fully enjoyed the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays, making sure to take advantage of the festivities of the seasons.

This may not sound too adventurous, Echols noted, but these ladies have not always been this active. They range in age from 48 to 78 years. Some have mobility difficulties but they do not let this slow them down. They have bonded and care very much for each other.

The ladies have really progressed over the past year. Their accomplishments in communication, self avocation, mobility and their desire to be involved in their community continue to increase. Echols attributes a lot of the changes to caring, motivated staff.

Community Action Development Corporation

Head Start Center Is Energy Efficient

When Community Action Development Corporation (CADC) Executive Director Brent Morey decided to replace an aging Head Start center in Frederick, he wanted it to be a “green” building.

The result is a 6,000 square foot, four classroom center that incorporates a variety of energy saving features.

Morey says everything about the center is energy efficient.

The agency obtained a $55,000 state energy program grant to install energy efficient heating and cooling systems, lighting and insulation. Stimulus funds from Head Start were used to purchase new kitchen appliances and playground equipment.

The commercial quality gas cook stove has electric ignition so there is not pilot light burning constantly.

A tankless water heater provides instant access to abundant hot water without using energy to keep water stored in a tank hot. Bathrooms have motion detectors so lights got off when the rooms are unoccupied.

Safety is also a major concern. The fire alarm and intrusion sensors are monitored constantly. A 6-foot high wire fence surrounds the building to protect the children. Anyone entering the play area must go through the center’s office.

CADC used agency discretionary funds to purchase one-half of a city block. The only structure on the property was a metal building that had been used as a carpet store. The agency gutted the building and added another 900 square feet during the renovation process.

A local businessman designed the building and CADC hired a project manager to oversee construction. The Corrections Center in Frederick provided four inmates who were skilled in carpentry, cabinet making, carpeting and cement work for the project. Local contractors did the heating and air conditioning work.

The center is located in a high visibility location on State Highway 5 across the street from the high school. The center has about 85 three and four-year-old children enrolled.

Teachers and Parents Work Together in Bilingual Head Start Center in Purcell

About 20 percent of the children enrolled at Delta Community Action Foundation's Purcell Early Learning Center live in homes where English is not the primary spoken language. Staff and parents are working together to ensure these children are ready to enter the public schools.

Center Director Jane Hopkins oversees the program serving 85 four-year-old children in the Pre-K and Head Start classes. Marcela Auz, a parent of a former child in Head Start and now a bilingual teacher aide, works with parents to identify any barriers to a child succeeding. Auz is funded through Head Start state appropriated funds.

Screening and assessments are important. Sometimes children fail to participate actively. It may be due to shyness, cultural issues, being new to the school, or possibly a learning issue.

Head Start Director Sharon Horton stresses the importance of getting an accurate assessment. Individualized assessments are conducted four times each year. Based on these assessments, individual lesson plans can be developed.

Teachers will speak to the children first in Spanish and then English. They use pictures and gestures to help children understand. Throughout the building items are labeled in English and Spanish. Menus, schedules and notices are also posted in both English and Spanish.

Olga Lara, whose daughter Joanna is enrolled at the center, is one of many parent volunteers. The parents may read to the children and help with different projects. If parents have special talents, they come to the center and show them to the youngsters. Parents also help with special activities like the Week of the Young Child observance and community food drives.

Even children get involved. Head Start helps children improve English language skills. As Ms. Lara's son grew older and transitioned out of Head Start, he began helping his younger sibling.

Teachers go the extra mile to help parents. Marcela Auz has helped non-English speaking parents fill out applications for SoonerCare. The staff wants to support the parent's efforts to becoming self-sufficient. Staff also translates, when necessary, at monthly parent meetings. Teachers may also refer parents to English as a second language class, if they are interested.

Mayra Munoz started as a parent volunteer before earning a CDA and now teaches at the center. She tells parents that as long as they don't give up, the staff will be there working to help them succeed.

Schedules, menus and other notices are printed in both English and Spanish as Marcela Auz and Jane Hopkins point out.

Specialty Van Proves Useful

In September, an employee from the nursing home called and wanted to know if JAMM could pick up a resident. The resident was 84 years old and she and her husband had been in the nursing home together for some time. Her husband passed away recently and she needed to be with her family as she was going through a difficult time. Unfortunately she was in a geri chair and it would be difficult for any vehicle to transport even with a lift.

Atoka JAMM Transit had recently purchased a double wheelchair bus with a hydraulic lift towards the front of the vehicle. Until this day the transit system had not tried to put this kind of wheelchair onto the van. JAMM sent a driver and the bus to pick up the resident and one of her family members and try to put this kind of chair onto the lift, secure the chair and transport her to Bentley which is about 15 miles east of Atoka. JAMM was successful. It was able to transport the 84 year old lady and one of her family members to their home without incident. She was able to be with her family and attend the funeral of her husband.

INCA Community Services

Community Dental Program Provides Services to Head Start Children

INCA Community Services received an unexpected blessing when dental hygienist Brandi Hull offered to provide free dental screenings, cleaning and fluoride treatments for children enrolled in the Head Start program in the agency's four county service area.

"She called out of the blue in July and said she'd like to help us," said Kathy Castleberry, Health and Training Manager for INCA.

The program is called 'LOL' for Laugh Out Loud. It is a community dental program that is focused on meeting the preventive dental needs of kids in under-served areas.

"We provide dental cleaning, fluoride, oral hygiene instruction, educational services, dental screenings, dental sealants, and dental referrals," Hull explained. The program staff consists of Hull and two dental assistants.

Hull brings portable dentist chair and other equipment into the classroom. All of the equipment fits into the trunk of her car.

Castleberry said Hull spent 3-4 days weekly for a month early in the school year to provide the services.

"She has a bubbly personality and works well with the children," Castleberry said. "She wants to go into the classroom."

Dental hygienist Brandi Hull checks the teeth of a child in the classroom of a INCA Community Services Head Start center

Hull said the children really seem to enjoy getting into the dental chair and showing off their teeth. She thinks one of the benefits of providing the services in the classroom is that the children feel safe and it is part of their learning environment so they aren't afraid to try new things.

"We also try to make it really fun for the kids. We laugh a lot and sing silly songs."

Hull said the passion for this program began about six years ago when God put something in her heart that she could do more for the community. She started at the Department of Human Services in Ardmore assessing the needs that children in the area had for accessing dental services.

"I found from their experiences that they felt there was a need for a program like this because of the limited number of dental providers that will see low income families and lack of information parents have on dental issues related to dental decay among children," Hull noted.

After completing her research, Hull was more passionate about helping bring relief to families and children. 3M Imtec Corporation provided funding to purchase needed equipment.

She later began volunteering on the Oklahoma Dental Foundation mobile van as a hygienist. That grew into a collaboration with the foundation. The Foundation hired a dentist to provide care for children in rural areas.

The collaboration is especially beneficial because there are no pediatric dentists in INCA's service area, according to Castleberry. INCA serves Johnston, Atoka, Murray and Marshall counties.

Hull credits Dr. Bulard who she says is a "very outside the box kind of thinker" for making her dream become a reality.

Hull said she really enjoys providing services for kids in need and hopes to be able to continue helping children and families in the community with this program.

The Oaks Rehabilitative Service Center Offers Treatment for Drug Addiction

“Cheryl” watched the program, “Crystal Darkness” from her jail cell as she detoxed from her addiction to methamphetamine. Far away from her family and confined in a small cell, she determined to get help with her demon as soon as she could.

However, upon released she ran into the very real problem those in Oklahoma wanting help with recovery face every day: shortage of beds in residential treatment centers across Oklahoma leads to long waiting lists.

Cheryl's cousin took up the struggle and wrote letters to everyone she could think of who might be able to help Cheryl.

Cheryl eventually found help at The Oaks Rehabilitative Service Center, the drug and alcohol addiction treatment program of KI BOIS Community Action Foundation.

It took six months of hard work on Cheryl's part with lots of support from counselors and friends, but Cheryl completed her treatment plan and was discharged in time to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with her family. Cheryl currently lives in the Oklahoma County area.

Head Start Family Advocate Helps Family Move Toward Self-Sufficiency

Lisa G was the mother of two young children who was caught in an abusive domestic relationship. She lived in Valliant, a county away from her family, she had no job skills, and she was dependent on the support of her partner who convinced her she wasn't intelligent enough to get and keep a job, but she wanted to improve her life and the lives of her children.

When she decided to leave her partner, she was homeless with no other place to go, and the only thing she knew to do was ask her brother who lived in

Hugo to take them in, but that situation was far from ideal, because her brother's little two bedroom house was already home to his wife and four children, his other sister and her three children, and their mother. With Lisa's little family added to the group, five adults and nine children were forced to share beds and sleep on the floor, and sometimes it was a struggle to put enough food on their table.

To take some strain off of the household, Lisa enrolled both of her children in Little Dixie Head Start, but she had no money, no job, and little self-confidence. She had no knowledge of the social programs available to a single parent in her situation that could help her to become self-sufficient.

That is until the Little Dixie Head Start Family Advocate helped her to assess her family strengths and needs and plan out a way to achieve her goal of acquiring independence.

With encouragement from the Family Advocate she took a basic computer workshop, and she found a job as a counter clerk in a retail parts store. She also gained enough confidence in herself to take on a part-time job which supplemented a financial budgeting plan.

Then the Family Advocate encouraged her to apply for HUD and Section 8 housing for which she was accepted. This young mother said that she used to have no hope of ever getting out of homeless poverty, now Lisa and her children live in their own home,

Lisa is working and supporting her children, the children are attending Little Dixie Head Start, and she says she has confidence for their future.

Little Dixie Programs Continue to Provide Positive Outcomes

The first annual Race Against Poverty was held at Hugo Lake State Park.

The event raised $1,800 for the Little Dixie "Emergency Fund," which is disbursed to families experiencing a calamity such as house fires or sudden, unexpected death of a breadwinner.

About 100 people entered from Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas for the combination 5K walk/run, promoting exercise and healthy lifestyle choices.

The event attracted new faces to Hugo Lake State Park, which is managed by Little Dixie CAA and provides 10 local jobs.

Little Dixie's partnership with NeighborWorks America continues to bear fruit with the addition of a Homeownership Center in Idabel.

This and other resources have allowed Little Dixie to expand its homebuyer programs to more clients in our primary service area, as well as expand services to five southern Oklahoma counties (Self-Help Housing) and Muskogee (Neighborhood Revitalization).

In the summer, we broke ground on the first Self-Help home in Marshall County, which will go to a single working mother.

This is outstanding news in a year when the foreclosure crisis of other parts of the US made so many headlines.

The YouthBuild program at Little Dixie continues to change lives.

YouthBuild member Matt Johnson of Hugo completed his training and obtained a GED, and now has been hired by the agency's Weatherization program.

This is a prime example of how a young person has been able to turn their life around with the help of Community Action.

Little Dixie Contracts to Provide Services

Approximately 10 people are employed to manage four state parks in Little Dixie's three county service area under a contractual agreement with the state's park department. Those parks are Hugo Lake and Raymond Gary in Choctaw County, Clayton Lake in Pushmataha County, and Beaver Bend Group Camp in McCurtain County. These activities support the agency's mission of creating local jobs and spurring economic development through tourism.

Little Dixie has a contractual agreement with Southeast Oklahoma Interlocal Cooperative in McCurtain County to manage certain aspects of the cooperative. Since the inception of this agreement, SOIC has grown from serving a handful of schools in three counties to serving more than 40 in a 10-county region of Oklahoma. SOIC provides special education and drug/alcohol prevention education services to local school districts.

Southeast Oklahoma Regional Health Network: Little Dixie is a full partner with SORHN, which operates medical clinics in Clayton, Battiest, and Idabel. This vital and growing network bring, badly needed medical resources to rural communities.

Success Story: Opportunities Helps Mother Toward Self-Sufficiency

It was when I returned to Yukon in July of 2008, that I became involved with the Head Start in Yukon. I had just left my children's father back in Arkansas and was living in a hotel with 3 of my children, looking for a job, food for the kids, a place to live and someone to watch the kids when I found employment.

I had gone to enroll the youngest child in Head Start when I met Ms. Robyn, Ms. Emaline, and Ms. Jennifer. When I let them know of my concerns and needs, they jumped right into helping me with resources of places to go for help.

They gave me information for the food bank and a place that gave me a voucher for a free stay at the hotel for a week right when I was running out of money. They gave me ideas of places in town that were hiring and I got a job at one of those places.

They also had mentioned maybe some of the moms might be able to offer childcare and some of the childcare centers in town which we found a place for the kids with this help. I was still trying to find a place to stay and had been turned down by a local apartment complex in town, they called and asked the manager to give me a chance and he did. I still live there with my children today.

Throughout the year I had several problems with my teenage son and the public school system and they helped me with getting through to him.

During this year my teen also tore his ACL playing football in October and was diagnosed with a form of kidney disease when this happened they always made sure to ask how he was and was there anything we needed, their support really got me through this time.

Even though all of this seems to be a great deal of help, most of all they helped me emotionally giving me a positive comfortable place to be able to go and get emotional support and they were full of resources to help with all our needs.

I really appreciate all they have done for me and my children. I know that it is programs like this and people with the will to help others that keep our lower income families from sinking to the bottom. I was at the bottom and they have brought me to the top.

Today I am going back to school and working with Head Start as a substitute, the children are well adjusted and happy! Thank you so much for being there for all of us. - Joy T.

Rx for Oklahoma Aids Washita Valley Clients

Eunice Rodgers contacted the Rx for Oklahoma coordinator at Washita Valley in January of this year asking for assistance with her medications. She and her husband live in rural Grady County, have been married for over 40 years, and live on 114% of the Federal Poverty Level. She has Medicare A and B, as well as some private coverage. She has prescription coverage through the private insurer, but her co-pays are so high that she has often gone without her medications. This has caused great stress, some depression, and a decrease in her quality of life.

Mrs. Rodgers is of the generation that is too proud to ask for a hand out. "Honey, it pains me to even ask for help, I just don't know what else to do," she said at our first meeting.

I explained to her that the help is available, and there is no reason for her to go without her medicine. Everyone needs help sometimes. We discussed her options, and I helped her apply to four different Pharmaceutical Assistance Programs. She did not get immediately accepted by all, due to the fact that she carries insurance. Together we worked through the appeal process, and she eventually got the help she needs.

Because Mrs. Rodgers does not have a Medicare Part D plan and cannot afford her medications, I encouraged her to apply for the Low Income Subsidy through the Social Security Administration. She seemed very nervous and intimidated at the thought of it. In February, I met Mrs. Rodgers at the Social Security Administration office in Chickasha, and assisted her with the application process. Although she was denied LIS assistance, I am confident I have done all I can to assist Mrs. Rodgers with her medication needs.

Mrs. Rodgers has expressed her appreciation over and over, and says she doesn't know what she would do without Rx for Oklahoma. She is in much better spirits and carries less stress now that her medication is available to her on a consistent basis, and her health has stabilized. Rx for Oklahoma has had a real impact on her quality of life, and she greatly appreciates the existence of this program and those who make it possible.

Barbara Miller heard about the Rx for Oklahoma Program through her pharmacy. Mrs. Miller promptly made an appointment and came right on time with all the required documentation. As I was processing her paperwork, I asked for her address, and she told me that she and her five children are currently living in a camper.

Mrs. Miller's life has been dramatically affected by recent changes in the economy of Oklahoma. Her husband, from whom she is separated, was supporting her family until he got laid off from his job in the oil field. That happened in January and since then the only source of income for the entire household has been some Social Security money they receive as a death benefit of a family member. Her husband has not contributed financially to the household since he got laid off.

In looking at her financial documentation, I realized that this family went from an annual household income of $111,407 to $12,120 practically overnight. This 90% reduction in income can not have been easy for this family to endure.

The Rx for Oklahoma program provides great relief when this kind of strain is imposed. Mrs. Miller takes six different medications that we are currently helping her with. This is an estimated value of $6,408 per year, which is a substantial part of her income that she can now use to feed and clothe her children.

Oklahoma Association of Community Action Agencies (OKACAA)

Conferences

The Oklahoma Association of Community Action Agencies (OKACAA) provides ongoing training during its quarterly meetings for professional staff, volunteer board members, and Head Start parents. Technical information, best practices, and management skills are shared through peer-to-peer sessions and by experts from governmental agencies and consulting firms. Training for weatherization crews was expanded in 2009 because of increased funding from the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act. During the annual meeting held in September, the association recognized 241 staff members and volunteers for their commitment in helping low-income families to become self sufficient.

Head Start Collaboration

The mission of the Oklahoma Head Start State Collaboration Office is to support efforts to develop early childhood systems and access to comprehensive services for low-income children, and to encourage widespread collaborations between community-based Head Start programs and state early childhood initiatives and policies. The project supports collaborations in eight priority areas. The following are examples of positive results during 2009 from efforts of the State Director of Head Start Collaboration:

- Health Care – Coordinated activities of the Oklahoma Head Start Dental Home Initiative with the initiative's State Team Leader, Co-chaired the Children's Oral Health Coalition, and served on the Oklahoma Health Care Authority Child Health Advisory Task Force.
- Welfare and Child Welfare – Planned and chaired meetings of the Head Start State Collaboration Office Advisory Board that shared partners' updates, and reviewed development of the State Early Childhood Advisory Council, the Head Start Training and Technical Assistance System, uses of American Recovery & Reinvestment Act funds, and Childcare and State Pre-K issues as these relate to child welfare.
- Education and Professional Development – Served as a partner member of the Oklahoma Team at the National Association for the Education of Young Children Professional Development Institute work day on cross-sector professional development as part of the ongoing work of the Oklahoma Early Education Professional Development Council.
- Community Services – Participated in several meetings to promote linkages between Head Start programs and state early childhood initiatives. These included the State Department of Education Leadership Conference, the statewide "Summit on Early Childhood Economic Investment," and two community neighborhood meetings.
- Availability, Accessibility, and Quality of Child Care and Preschool Services – Presented session on diverse delivery of early childhood services at the National Smart Start Conference, and developed a Collaboration Toolkit to facilitate implementation of inter-operational collaborations.
- Family Literacy – Facilitated provision of family literacy training at OKACAA Conferences, provided improved access to family literacy services by distributing the TIPS (Training, Information and Practical Strategies) family literacy newsletter, information about the Barbara Bush Foundation for Family Literacy grants, and efforts to add to book collections through the FirstBook Web site.
- Children with Disabilities – Met with childcare workgroup to improve opportunities for inclusion of children with disabilities in child care and other early childhood settings, and completed signing of the Oklahoma Interagency Memorandum of Understanding on serving children with disabilities that includes Head Start.
- Children Experiencing Homelessness – Served as member of the Governor's Interagency Council on Homelessness, and co-chaired the Access to Mainstream Resources Committee, presented sessions on two State Department of Education video conferences

Head Start Coordination

In a program unique to Oklahoma, the Oklahoma Association of Community Action Agencies (OKACAA) provides experts to visit Head Start programs to assist with program self-assessments and provide one-on-one technical assistance to help programs prepare for their federal reviews. OKACAA provided technical assistance to three agencies during 2009. OKACAA contracts with the Oklahoma Department of Commerce for this funding that is provided by an appropriation from the state legislature.

OKACAA staff also provides technical assistance and information to Oklahoma's Head Start programs through monthly meetings with program directors, program specific training at conferences, and distribution of information and discussion of current issues through an Internet-based information system.

Oklahoma Asset Development Project

Sixteen member agencies participating in the Oklahoma Asset Development Project during the 2009 tax season electronically filed 15,458 returns. Their efforts returned $16,245,577 to Oklahoma, including $7,886,821 in Earned Income Tax Credits and $3,085,978 in Child Care Tax Credits. Funds supporting the 2009 tax season were provided by the Oklahoma Department of Commerce (ODOC) and the Office of Community Services (OCS) within the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

The OCS funding supports an OKACAA initiative with the Oklahoma Department of Human Services (DHS) to increase the number of TANF, SNAP and other DHS clients utilizing free preparation sites. The DHS expanded efforts to educate clients regarding EITC and free tax preparation. They provided cards with information on local tax site hours and locations to clients visiting DHS caseworkers between January 15 and April 15. One important effect of the campaign is an increase in the percentage of returns prepared at community action VITA sites that include the earned income tax credit. The rate rose from 32% in 2008 to 38% in 2009, the first year of the initiative.

The program also provides protocols to DHS caseworkers and community action tax preparers to reinforce client participation in financial literacy programming. Sixteen member agencies serving 68 counties participate in the program and share in the OCS and ODOC funding. They will provide 89 tax sites in 65 communities during the 2009 tax season.

Oklahoma Homebuyer Education Association

The Oklahoma Homebuyer Education Association (OHEA) continues to provide training and technical assistance to agencies preparing working class families for homeownership. Through 2009 OHEA has certified 360 homebuyer education professionals (CHEPs) of which 138 are currently active in Oklahoma. The OHEA certification has saved Oklahoma agencies more than $286,000 in registration fees over the cost of using a national provider. Additional savings are realized in reduced travel costs and staff hours that would otherwise be spent adapting the national curriculum to the laws and business practices in Oklahoma. OHEA also has distributed over $72,000 in subsidies to agencies providing homebuyer education in rural areas. A partnership with Fannie Mae allowed OHEA to provide scholarships to four housing counselors from minority groups whose organizations target minority populations.

OHEA supports the Oklahoma Weatherization and Housing Advisory Council by providing a track of seven sessions on homeownership and financial literacy at their annual State Housing and Energy Conference. CHEPs can meet a portion of their continuing education requirements by attending these sessions which encourages attendance at this event. The association also partners with other agencies through the Oklahoma Jump$tart Coalition to encourage general financial literacy for youth and adults.

OHEA continues to provide a unique network for supporting the development of new Oklahoma homeowners thanks to the support of the Oklahoma Association of Community Action Agencies and the Federal Home Loan Bank of Topeka. Community action agency service providers and their partners have reported assisting over 1,682 low- and moderate-income Oklahomans with their home purchases. Over 15,000 Oklahomans have attended OHEA certified homebuyer education workshops in preparation for ownership.

Oklahoma Weatherization and Housing Advisory Council

The Oklahoma Weatherization and Housing Advisory Council (OWHAC) is composed of representatives of the housing and weatherization programs operated by member agencies. OWHAC's mission is to provide technical assistance and training and to promote safe, decent, affordable and comfortable housing throughout the state. It annually sponsors the Oklahoma Housing and Energy Conference that offers training on technical issues and current information on federal and state programs and regulations. OWHAC is an affiliate organization of the Oklahoma Association of Community Action Agencies.

The weatherization program has expanded with additional funding provided from the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act. Weatherization improves the energy efficiency of homes that results in lower energy costs.

Weatherization programs include:

- U.S. Department of Energy Weatherization Assistance Program
- Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) Weatherization Program
- Utility-sponsored weatherization programs

Housing programs operated by member agencies include:

- Single family construction
- Multifamily housing developments
- Down payment and closing cost assistance
- Homebuyer education

Poverty Awareness

This program provides information on the challenges faced by people living in poverty and services offered by Oklahoma's Community Action network to help low-income residents moved toward self-sufficiency.

The Oklahoma Association of Community Action Agencies (OKACAA) distributed 2,000 copies of its 2009 Directory and Annual Report, "Solving the Self-Sufficiency Puzzle," to policy makers, 2-1-1 call centers, social service organizations, news media, member agencies, and the general public. The 76-page publication includes lists of services, key contacts, and office locations. It is a valuable tool to acquaint policy makers and others about the services available within the Community Action network. Community leaders can obtain insights into the impact of services in their areas from the statistical information included in the publication.

OKACAA released a statewide report during its December conference that measures what it costs families to meet their most basic needs without public or private subsidies. The Self Sufficiency Standard for Oklahoma 2009 charts how much eight different families needed to earn to pay for housing, food, child care, health care, transportation, taxes and other basic necessities in each of Oklahoma's 77 counties. The report has been posted on OKACAA's web site at www.okacaa.org.

Community Action Poverty Simulations facilitated by OKACAA staff helped a variety of people understand the situations families living in poverty must deal with every day. The simulation is an interactive event designed to help participants understand what it might be like to live in a typical low-income family trying to survive month-to-month. During the simulation the participants assume the roles of different families facing poverty and must interact with community resources. During 2009, OKACAA facilitated nine simulations. Groups included a state association, teenagers at a church, Head Start and public school teachers, college students, and professional staff for the Cherokee Nation.

Community Action staff educated state legislators on how policy and funding decisions impact Oklahoma's low-income families during OKACAA's annual Legislative Conference.

OKACAA staff provided training to the governing boards of seven member agencies to ensure they understood their responsibilities. This training covered laws and regulations impacting governing bodies, board structure, duty of care, planning, overseeing financial matters, complying with Oklahoma's Open Meeting Act, and the board's relationship with the executive director.

OKACAA converted its newsletter to an electronic newsletter during the year. The newsletter featured articles about programs that focused on member agencies' efforts to help people and change lives. The Association also maintained a Web site (www.okacaa.org) which included information on a variety of services and links to other sites.

Weatherization Client Education

The Oklahoma Association of Community Action Agencies (OKACAA) provides a statewide system for Weatherization Client Education in Oklahoma. The system capitalizes on American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) funds to inform and educate as many income-eligible consumers as possible about energy conservation practices and cost-saving measures that can reduce overall residential energy consumption in addition to what weatherization achieves.

Community Action Agencies offer client education to occupants of weatherization eligible dwelling units within their service area. Targeted populations include low-income schools, high energy use households, Head Start families, seniors, families that include members with disabilities and other families with small children. Energy Educators provide consumer education locally in a variety of ways including group training events, one-on-one client education while visiting weatherized homes, presentations to consumer-focused meetings; and educational materials at local events or gatherings.

OKACAA provides training and technical assistance to the educator network, develops partnerships with community partners, and extends the reach of the program by training Head Start family service workers with pre-existing relationships among low-income households to introduce energy savings to families. To date, OKACAA has provided ten training sessions for energy educators from all nineteen agencies and supported that training with web-based communications and resources. OKACAA staff and energy educators provided energy-saving tips in face-to-face encounters with 8040 attendees at the State Fair of Oklahoma. Educators have reported outreach to over 28,600 Oklahomans at local and regional fairs and events. They have provided energy efficiency education to 838 people receiving weatherization services and 2,061 program-eligible Oklahomans attending group sessions.

Partnerships with Public Service of Oklahoma and Oklahoma Association of Electrical Coops have resulted in outreach through mailing inserts in monthly bills and newsletters to coop members, as well as thousands of brochures for educators to support their energy efficiency efforts. The program is funded by ARRA funds from the Department of Energy (DOE) Weatherization Assistance Program as administered by the Oklahoma Department of Commerce.

Weatherization Training and Technical Assistance

The Oklahoma Association of Community Action Agencies (OKACAA) enhanced its years of offering training for the weatherization program in 2009 by adding a full time Weatherization Training Manager. Working closely with the Oklahoma Department of Commerce, OKACAA has greatly expanded the training opportunities for local weatherization staff and contractors. The state's weatherization program underwent a major expansion during 2009 due to the addition of approximately $60 million in American Recovery and Reinvestment Act funds (ARRA) in the program and this resulted in a huge increase in new weatherization employees.

During 2009, OKACAA in conjunction with its affiliate, the Oklahoma Weatherization and Housing Advisory Council, developed the Oklahoma Weatherization Training Curriculum. This curriculum will be used to formalize a certification program for weatherization staff. Topics covered in each of the 19 sections of the curriculum provide weatherization information for new employees and also acts as a refresher for existing employees. This training is valuable as agencies gear up to expand their Weatherization Assistance Program services because of increased funding from the ARRA.

A major emphasis this past year has been on meeting the requirements of the new federal Environmental Protection Agency/Housing and Urban Development (EPA/HUD) Renovate, Repair, and Painting Rule which will be mandatory beginning on April 22, 2010. Certified renovators must be assigned to each project requiring Lead Safe Work Practices, and this certification requires an eight hour EPA/HUD course. Approximately 80 individuals received the certification in 2009 with another 50 to be certified in February 2010.

During the past year OKACAA provided a total of 5,820 class hours of training in 34 different training sessions. 1,388 participants took part in the training that was offered.
